BRYAN AND BELMONT

They Were the Men of the Hour at the Carnival.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

Bryan and Belmont Speak to Immense Audiences—Judge Tarvin Makes a Fine Speech—Others Make Addresses.

Dallas, Oct. 4.—The Democratic carnival was brought to a close last night. It was a success in every particular, and the programme, as prepared by the committee, was carried out except as to speeches of a few, who at the last minute, were unable to attend.

Every prominent Democrat in Texas attended the carnival, except Senator Charles Culberson, and Ex-Governor Hogg, who are both absent from the city.

The features of the last day were the speeches of Judge Tarvin of Kentucky and William J. Bryan in the morning, the "Dollar Dinner" in the evening and speeches of Bryan, Belmont, Congressman Wetmore and others.

Next to William J. Bryan in attraction at the carnival was Oliver H. P. Belmont of New York. Mr. Belmont is the only millionaire of New York state who supported Mr. Bryan and the Chicago platform of 1896.

He pronounced himself unequivocally for Mr. Bryan and made speeches in his behalf throughout that campaign and more eager to support him in 1900 than he was in 1896.

Mr. Belmont was the attraction last night. His audience was immense. People clamored to see the millionaire who had the courage to break loose from the gold faction and join, as they term it, the fight of the common people. Mr. Belmont was rewarded here for such a stand. His audience was composed of all classes and the reception he was given was second to that only to Bryan.

His speech was received with the greatest enthusiasm and the applause he received showed the esteem in which this man is held by the Democrats of Texas.

Mr. Belmont spoke as follows: "I have not come so much to speak to you as to listen. I have come in response to the cordial invitation I received and in appreciation of the honor conferred upon me by that invitation, and to witness this great rally of Democrats, preparing to march to victory. I have come also with the pleasant task of bringing you the greetings of the Empire state and to tell you that we are waiting to march as an unit to victory with you in 1900. All factions are coming together. All wounds are healing and all scars are disappearing.

"Gentlemen, the questions that the people of this great republic have come face to face with have caused every man who ever had the slightest Democratic sentiment in his make up to register his determination to elect a Democratic president and to restore the Democratic party to power. Time is pressing and I must hurry on.

"We gather in the name of Democracy on the eve of a tremendous political campaign with the convention still months away, our standard bearer is practically settled upon by the people. The nomination will be a mere formality. The name of Bryan, Democracy's next candidate and the country's next president, is heard on every lip. On the subject of ticket therefore, I need not pause. [Applause.]

"As to issues, I will say little. Not that I feel lightly about them. Like you, I feel that the very tenure of American institutions is at stake. Our war in 1900 will be as much of a war for liberty and independence as was that of our forefathers in 1776. No, I do not slight the issues in my talk today, because they are insignificant, or not constant in my mind. They were never of more moment. Imperialism, monopoly, militarism, finance, income tax, all clamor for consideration. You have already heard and will again hear of them all. While I may fail to more than touch upon them, their sure elaboration is in safer, better, wiser hands than mine.

"There is one topic, however, on which I may briefly expand. It is the Democratic harmony and party union. It must be invoked. There must come an unbroken party to the front to build up victory and win triumph from the battle of 1900. The man who raises his voice to disturb it will be guilty of a great crime. And now, in the name of harmony, let me speak one word concerning the Democracy of New York, the Democracy from which I come to you and which I strain no truth when I say I fairly represent. The New York Democracy will be solidly with you in the coming battle. It will stand by and stay with you to the glorious last, and I might say the same of the whole region east of the Alleghenies. [Applause.]

"Papers and politicians, mugwump, Republicans and traitors wearing the mask of Democracy, all moved by the power of money and greed, will ever and anon tell you of Democratic disaffection in the east. Such are the lies and wiles of the enemies. They are paid for by Republican money. Their inspiration is Hanna. Their purpose is the disorganization of Democracy and to set the south and west against the east. I am here today to refute these stories. I have come 2500 miles to brand these Hanna-suggested falsehoods. The New York Democracy, the whole eastern Democracy, has never in its history come closer to the general party heart than it has today. Name Bryan; make your platform what you will, and in the east not one in a hundred of all who wore the party badge will be missing from Democracy's muster in November, 1900. [Prolonged applause.]

"More than that, there will be thousands upon thousands of others who being Americans and honest men, long before they were Republicans, will leave that party of imperialism, foul with plunder, rotten and misrule, and be side by side with the followers of Jefferson, strike one blow for Bryan and the nation's safety. [Applause.]

"Look at what we have done in New York. In 1896 we lost the state by two hundred thousand plurality. The New York Democracy like the party ship in many other states, went down, scuttled by Clevelandism. [Applause.] It is not my purpose to extensively speak of that lone fisherman who sits at Princeton. Yet I tell you in candor he was the blight. It was he who prepared Democracy for defeat in 1896, and who buried it in New York under a landslide of which history never knew the parallel.

"But the eclipse of Cleveland did not stay. It has all but passed. Last fall by trick and money, and vigorous beating of the San Juan drum, the Republicans elected Roosevelt with a scant 16,000 plurality. Quite a difference between 246,000 of two years ago and 16,000! And the Hanna party exhausted efforts to do that.

"You of the south and west, may not only look for party harmony in New York, but you may expect to see Bryan sweep the state next year by 50,000 majority. It is no longer the 'enemy's country,' it is the country and home of your friends.

"As I close, I say to you, Democrats of Texas, whatever else you may doubt, be sure of the eastern Democracy; be sure and certain of New York. It is loyal to the general party, loyal to you as it is loyal to itself. If New York's Democracy were in control of the party the convention work next year would be simplicity itself. It would make Bryan the candidate, Bryan the issue, Bryan the battlecry. As the open sesame that shall unbar the gates to party victory in November, 1900, speaking for the New York Democracy and in the name of New York, I present to you the sentiment—Bryan and harmony."

CLOSING EXERCISES.

The "Dollar Dinner" Speeches Completed the Carnival.

Twelve hundred and seventy six persons partook of the food spread before them last night at the great "Dollar Dinner" in the fair grounds auditorium. Two thousand more—all that the building could accommodate under the circumstances—sat in seats provided outside the railing at the rear end of the hall.

The first round of applause of the evening was drawn from the crowd by the appearance of the venerable John Reagan. He was given a seat in front and near the center of the stage.

Governor Joseph D. Sayers was also greeted with applause when he came on the platform and took a seat near the one reserved for Bryan.

Bryan came wending his way through the crowd, and was received with deafening applause.

Congressman Burke introduced Mr. Bryan. From beside each plate an eager hand snatched a flag. Jumping to their feet the crowd frantically waved these emblems while vociferous cheers resounded through the hall.

Suppressing the demonstration with a deprecatory wave of his hand, silver's champion made his address.

Gov. Stone closed the meeting with an appeal for aid and more than $6000 were contributed by individuals and by those representing Democratic

The Fall Elections.

It is believed the elections this fall will have an important bearing on the presidential campaign of next year. They will occur Tuesday, November 7, in the following states: Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Virginia.

Iowa will choose governor, lieutenant governor, judge of the supreme court, superintendent of instruction, and railroad commissioner, also members of the legislature. Kentucky will elect governor and seven other state officers and legislature.

Maryland will elect governor, attorney general, comptroller and legislature, and vote upon a proposed amendment to the constitution of the state.

Massachusetts will elect governor and five other state officers and legislature.

Mississippi will elect governor and nine other state officers and legislature. For the state officers there are two tickets in the field—democratic and populist.

Nebraska will elect judge of the supreme court and two regents of the state university. For these, the democrats, populists and silver republicans have nominated a fusion ticket. The republicans nominated September 21.

New Jersey will elect part of its legislature.

New York will elect the members of the assembly and vote upon proposed amendments to the constitution of the state.

Ohio will elect governor and six other state officers and legislature.

Pennsylvania will elect state treasurer, justice of the supreme court and judge of the superior court.

South Dakota will elect chief justice and two associate justices.

Virginia will elect a legislature which will choose a United States senator, to succeed Thomas S. Martin, democrat, whose term will expire March 4, 1901.

In all these states, saving Mississippi and Nebraska, the contests will be practically between the democratic and republican parties. In Mississippi, the republicans are not likely to put out a ticket, while in Nebraska the fight will be between the republicans and fusionists, (democrats, populists and silver republicans). In Kentucky the result may be affected by the bolting democrats and populists, but the main fight is a red hot one between Goebel, the straight democratic nominee, and Taylor, the republican nominee, with almost a certainty of the former's success.

Mississippi, Maryland and Virginia are safely democratic, while the Bryan fusionists will carry Nebraska. New York is in doubt, but the democrats are confident of carrying the state. Ohio is a republican state, but there is a revolt against Hannaism and the democrats are almost sure to carry the state. The other states above named, to-wit: Massachusetts, Iowa, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and South Dakota, are likely to be carried by the republicans, though the little Jersey state may drop back into the democratic column.

One thing is certain: the democrats cannot lose ground in these fall elections, and if they carry Ohio, the president's home state, the tide will surely set in against republicanism, to sweep it to complete ruin in 1900.—Wood County News.

The press of Texas has been urging the building of cotton mills and other manufacturing enterprises, until at last there is to be a real materialization of cotton mills. The press has also urged the farmers to raise hogs and diversify their crops and the results of their labors in this direction are most gratifying. Here in east Texas the farmers raise fruit, vegetables, hay, corn, wheat, oats, sorghum, ribbon cane, tobacco, cotton, hogs, cattle, horses, mules, sheep, goats, chickens, turkeys, etc., that is, many of them do, and they are prosperous. The man who has persisted in raising cotton only is still mortgaging the crop, and coming out behind.—Palestine Advocate.

ROBBED BY BOERS.

It Is Said That They Secured £300,000 of Gold Going to Cape Town.

London, Oct. 4.—The most sensational news comes from South Africa in reiteration of Tuesday's report of the acquisition by The Transvaal authorities of £500,000 in gold which was on the way to Cape Town from Johannesburg. A confirmation of the story comes from two sources. Cape Argus asserts that the Boers made the seizure at Vreengeng, the amount being the weeks shipment of gold on the way from Rand to Cape Town, and forwarded to the treasury at Pretoria. The report is also confirmed by a cablegram received by a mining company in London from a representative, which is to the effect that the train upon which he was traveling from Johannesburg to Cape Town was held up and looted by Boers, who secured £300,000 in gold, the amount being considerably less than originally estimated.

There is nothing very tangible in war news, but the situation remains as strained as ever, and unless hope may be derived from the apparent fact that the forces on the frontier are regarded by both sides as wholly defensive for the present, and from the statements of J. H. Holmeyer, the Afrikaner leader, that Cape Colony, is still preparing to endeavor to secure adhesion of The Transvaal government to the "irreducible minimum" proposed at the Blomfontein conference to President Kruger by Sir Alfred Milner, British high commissioner, if the imperial government stands by the high commissioner's original proposal.

KRUGER'S SPEECH.

He Says the Lord Will Be With The Transvaal People.

Pretoria, Oct. 4.—More extended accounts of the speech of President Kruger at the adjournment of the raad Tuesday are obtained. According to trustworthy reports he said:

"Everything points to war because the spirit of falsehood has overtaken other countries and because the people of The Transvaal wish to govern themselves. Although thousands may come to attack us we have nothing to fear, for the Lord is the final arbitrator and he will decide. Bullets came by the thousands at the time of the Jamison raid, but the burghers were untouched. Over 100 were killed on the other side, showing the Lord directed our bullets. The Lord rules the world."

J. M. A. Wolmarans, one of the two non-official members of the executive council, said he hoped that when the raads reassembled they would be without convention and be free people. God, he declared, often used England to bring the burghers back to the faith of their forefathers. In the course of his speech he exclaimed: "England has refused everything, even arbitration."

Sympathy for the Boers.

New York, Oct. 4.—A mass meeting to express sympathy with the Boers in their struggle against England, will be held in Cooper Union next Tuesday. W. Bourke Cockran will deliver an address and Tunis G. Berger will also speak. The meeting will be presided over by Augustus Van Wick, but the new movement is not under the auspices of any society. Among vicepresidents named in the announcement are Abraham S. Hewitt, Jordan L. Mott, William G. Motts de Pester and Jona h. Starin.

Prominent Lawyer Shot.

Thomasville, Ga., Oct. 4.—Colonel A. W. Hawes, a leading lawyer and politician of Bainbridge, was assaulted and it is believed fatally shot here by W. H. Hammond, another lawyer. The difficulty grew out of an argument of a case in the chambers by Colonel Hawes and Captain William Hammond, father of the man who did the shooting. During the course of the argument Colonel Hawes characterized as untrue the statement made by Captain Hammond. Both men are prominent.

Ketchum Prepared to Escape.

Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Superintendent Bursum of the territorial penitentiary, discovered that Tom Ketchum, the notorious "Black Jack" train robber, was preparing to escape from the penitentiary. In the linen used as a bandage for the wound of the prisoner, and wrapped around his body, was found a steel saw made of a clock spring, and in the water closet of the hospital was found a wooden pistol covered with tin foil.

Given Five Years.

Glasgow, Oct. 4.—James Colquhoun, former city treasurer of Glasgow, and former representative of the city corporation in the university court, who was arrested on Aug. 1, on the charge of embezzling funds of the city and estates committed to his charge in amounts aggregating nearly £160,000, pleaded guilty before the court and was sentenced to five years penal servitude.

Killed Her Husband.

Mineola, Tex. Oct. 4.—A woman came to town late yesterday and announced that she had killed her husband. She stated that he came home and cursed and abused her, and finally rushed at her with a large pair of scissors. She then got a pistol from a drawer and fired twice, one ball entering the chest above and to the right of the heart, killing him instantly.

Bond Refused.

Chattanooga, Oct. 4.—Judge Floyd Estill, in the circuit court here, has rendered an opinion on the application of Julia Morrison James for bond, refusing the application. He said: "This appears to the court to have been a willful, premeditated and malicious murder."

A Soap Talk!

DO YOU KNOW how to judge a pure soap? A soap to be just right must leave the skin as before using, and to do this it must be neutral—no excess of alkali. We have made soaps, especially toilet and medicinal, a study, so you take no risk in buying them of me—no higher than elsewhere. We have just received a new stock of delightful soaps, including Crushed Roses, Crushed Lillies, Crushed Lilacs, Crushed Violets and the well-known La Tosca. These goods are the very best, and cannot help please the most fastidious. Come see me when you need SOAP.

We do not try to impress the public how cheap we can prepare a prescription; rather how well, how true, how accurate. Our prices please too. Bring them to me and the results will bring you back again.

SEVERE ON SOLDIERS.

Mr. Peyton Has a Poor Opinion of Those in the Philippines.

MUST BE ALL BAD.

He Says the United States Has Forty-Five Thousand Drunkards, Rakes and Gamblers There and That Manila Is a "Hell Hole."

New York, Oct. 4.—Army Secretary Peyton of the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, who has just returned from a stay of six months in the Philippines, declares that the United States has 45,000 "drunkards, rakes and gamblers" in and around Manila, and that religious progress is quite out of the question while Americans soldiers are there. He says the Roman Catholic priests have made up with the Tagals and are losing no time and sparing no money to tell the Filipinos that the Americans now in Manila, who have made that city what Mr. Peyton calls a "hell hole," are fair specimens of protestant civilization.

Peyton went to the Philippines under commission from Bishop Doane of Albany, chairman of the board of domestic and foreign missions of the Protestant Episcopal church, charging him to examine conditions and return in time to report at the missionary council, which will meet this month in St. Louis. Mr. Peyton visited five of the islands and enjoyed exceptional opportunities of observation. He is an ex-soldier, having seen service in the Spanish-American war, and having served at Montank while the convalescent camp was there. In the course of an interview he said:

"Without any qualifying exceptions, the Tagals are the most moral and the most religious people I ever saw; but they are mere children in ability to govern themselves. It would never do, in my judgment, for the United States to abandon them. The Tagals could not hope to control the other principal races of the islands, and there would result a lot of petty states too weak to take care of themselves and too ignorant and too prejudiced to join in one united state. But the Tagals could not even govern themselves, for with American power gone, the friars would not let them do so.

"At the present time there is no chance for Protestant effort. It is practically useless to undertake to do anything there until the United States troops depart or reform. The United States has in and around Manila, at this moment, or had when I left a few weeks ago, 45,000 drunkards, rakes and gamblers. Of course there are exceptions, but they are not worth mentioning. The statement is sufficiently accurate. When the American troops landed in Manila there was only a saloon or two in the whole place. Today Manila is a hell hole. There are 430 or more saloons, typical places of the western frontier or worse, and the saloons are more respectable than are many of the other places within the city, which the Americans have either planted or keep alive by their support.

"When the insurrection was at its height many Spanish priests were driven out and left the island. With the coming of the Americans a common danger has brought Tagals and Spaniards together and old scores have been healed. Today not only Luzon, but the islands in the west and south are covered with friars who are active as they never were before. Everywhere they are preaching to the people thus: 'Behold those men, they are a sample of Americans. America is an infidel, or what is the same thing, a Protestant nation. See the danger of fighting the mother church. An infidel nation has sent the flower of its men here and behold them. Your lots may be hard. You may have had grievances in the past. We may have sinned, but your state is certainly better than that of Americans. You are moral. You are religious.'

"Just as long as these priests have 45,000 Americans there and such Americans as examples of what they are pleased to call an infidel civilization, so long is it useless for Protestants to try to convert Tagals and other Filipinos. Let the army do its work and get away. Then and not until then will Methodists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians stand any chance."

Manila Mementoes Plundered.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 4.—Harry Reisig, a member of Company M, 1st Colorado Regiment, recently mustered out, died at Manila in August. Just before his death he filled a box with interesting mementoes for his widowed mother, his brothers and sisters and other near relatives. The Red Cross nurse and comrades helped to accumulate quite a collection of articles of some intrinsic value. The box arrived here but it was empty. Some where en route it had been opened and plundered.

Got Tired of Life.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 4.—In a fit of despondency, occasioned by his inability to secure regular employment, George Wise, of Omaha, took a large dose of morphine at a hotel here and will die. He is 35 years of age, well dressed, and told an acquaintance he had lost a fortune speculating.

THE DEWEY SWORD.

It Is Presented to the Admiral With Elaborate Ceremonies.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The culmination of Admiral Dewey's triumphal home coming was reached yesterday in the dome of the national capitol. Here he received from the hands of the president the magnificent jeweled sword voted him by congress in commemoration of the victory of Manila bay. This was the official ceremony. But more official sanction could not have thrown into the demonstration, the fervor of enthusiasm that was meted out to the admiral as he appeared before the vast audience, composed not only of all the highest officials in the land, but of spectators drawn from every quarter of the United States.

The sword is the finest ever made in any country. The sword, except its steel blade and body metal of its scabbard, is entirely of 22 carat gold. On the pommel is carved the name of the battleship Olympia, which was Dewey's flagship at Manila, and the zodiacal sign for December, in which lucky month Dewey was born. Circling these is a closely woven wreath of oak leaves, long employed to indicate and adorn rank.

Below these the pommel is embraced by a gold collar, on the front of which are the arms of the United States, with the blue field of the shield in enamel. Below them are the arms of Vermont, Dewey's native state, with the motto: "Freedom and Unity," and the colors of the shield in enamel.

The plain part of the gold collar is decorated with stars and a graceful finish is given to it by a narrow band of oak leaves.

The sword blade is damascened with the inscription: "The gift of the nation to Rear Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N., in memory of the victory at Manila bay, May 1, 1898."

The sword grip is covered with fine sharkskin bound with gold wire and inlaid with gold stars. The guard is an eagle terminating in a claw which grasps the top in which the blade is set, and the eagles outstretched wings form the guard proper.

The scabbard is of thin steel, damascened in gold with sprays of a delicate sea plant, the rose marinus, typical of fidelity, constancy and remembrance. The ferule, or lower end of the scabbard terminates in entwined gold dolphins.

The sword box is of white oak, inlaid with black velvet, and at the center of the cover a gold shield surmounted by an eagle and inscribed with a single star the words "Rear Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N."

Dewey's Movements.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Admiral Dewey called on Secretary Long and talked over plans of the immediate future and as to these Secretary Long promptly gave him notice that the department was willing to give him perfect liberty to do as he pleased. The Admiral was, therefore, at his instance, detached formally from the Olympia. The Admiral will go to Vermont Monday. After the reception at the state capital on Oct. 13, he will go to Boston to attend a reception there in his honor on Oct. 14. The Admiral walked over to the White House to keep an appointment made with the president, to discuss the Philippine situation.

Admiral Dewey Declines.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Admiral Dewey has declined to go west with President McKinley. He will not mix up in political demonstrations.

Venezuelan Boundary Decision.

Paris, Oct. 3.—By the decision of the Anglo-Venezuelan boundary arbitration commission some of Great Britain's claims as to the interior on the coast are disallowed. Her frontier will start at the Waini river. The award was unanimous. The decision is in favor of compromise, rather than as favoring Venezuela.
